SUPPORT FOR LECTURERS

Our publishing programme is built around your teaching needs so it's important for us to get out and meet with you as often as possible. Each year, members of the Academic Team attend conferences where you can:

- View our range of new titles and editions
- Request your free inspection copies
- Provide us with feedback on how we can be of more help and where you feel there are gaps in your information and teaching resources
- Speak to us about any writing projects you have in mind

The Academic Team arrange individual appointments throughout the year. This enables us to discuss your needs on a one-to-one basis and work with you to find the most suitable textbooks for your students.

And our service doesn't stop at finding you the right course material. We can supply promotional material to your campus or local bookshop to support the adoption.

THE SWEET & MAXWELL INSPECTION SERVICE

The Academic Inspection copy email service is designed to ensure you receive all the latest textbook publishing news from Sweet & Maxwell.

We have recently launched a new ProView eBook Inspection Copy Library where you can sign up to get access to our full suite of textbooks on ProView to cover all your inspection copy needs. This library is available to academic lecturers based in the UK and Ireland only, and to sign up requires an active academic email address. For more information and to request access to the library, please email us at proviewtrial@thomsonreuters.com.

WHY PUBLISH WITH SWEET & MAXWELL?

As a specialist legal publisher with a long-standing tradition of quality and scholarship, Sweet & Maxwell are committed to the publication of high quality texts that meet the needs of both lecturers and students. Our commitment to excellence offers authors a high level service through publishing professionalism, specialist market knowledge and understanding of the requirements of our authors.

AMONG THE BENEFITS OF WRITING FOR SWEET & MAXWELL ARE:

- Over 200 years of history and heritage in legal publishing: your work can benefit not just from this heritage but also from a brand that is synonymous with quality, excellence and authority
- Personal communication: a dedicated Publisher will be your main point of contact throughout the whole publication process
- Editorial excellence: we accept only the highest standards in copy-editing, typesetting and production
- International reach: as part of Thomson Reuters, Sweet & Maxwell has representation in over 100 countries providing us with the opportunity to maximise sales of appropriate titles internationally
- Sales support: a dedicated highly experienced academic trade sales team that concentrates purely on legal titles and their promotion into bookshops, online vendors and other agents

WHAT SHOULD YOU INCLUDE IN YOUR PROPOSAL?

This varies for each title but you should consider the following:

- Covering letter – Explain why the market needs your book. Include a brief competitor review that covers other titles in the area. Don't be put off if there are other titles, we will be looking to see what makes your title unique. Detail who you think the target market is and how large you think it is. Think about the time it will take you to write the title and give a realistic delivery date for the manuscript
- Synopsis – Describe the aim and scope of the title. Summarise the approach you will take and the content to be covered. Include a draft table of contents and if you are intending to have contributing authors, any suggestions you may have for them. Indicate how in-depth you intend the title to be. This section is the heart of your proposal so ensure that you have shown why your title has the potential to be successful
- Sample Chapters – A draft chapter included with a proposal would be an advantage as this will give us a clear indication of writing style and content level. The chapter does not need to be a finished version, but should cover the essence of your style and approach and include any features that you intend to use within the book
- Curriculum vitae – Provide details on your professional experience, as well as any previous publishing experience. Don't worry if you haven't had any previous publishing experience, this information will highlight that we need to give you more support during the process
- Additional material – Include any other supporting material that you think would be useful in demonstrating the market for your title

WHO TO CONTACT WITH YOUR PUBLISHING PROPOSAL

The Academic team at Sweet & Maxwell would be delighted to hear from you should you be interested in writing a new textbook or skills title.

Nicola Thurlow is the Senior Publisher responsible for our textbook publishing programme. All textbook proposals should be sent to Nicola in the first instance, should you have any concerns or queries regarding your proposal Nicola will be happy to help you.

EQUITY & TRUSTS - TEXTBOOK SERIES

Professor Michael Haley – Professor of Property Law, Keele University; and Professor Lara McMurtry – Professor of Law and Legal Education, University of Sussex

- Ideal for all students of equity and trusts law, assuming no pre-existing knowledge yet stimulating and educating students at all stages of their academic development
- Provides a succinct introduction to the law of equity and trusts, followed by a thorough analysis of the substantive topics with detailed reference to case law and current academic debate
- Corresponds well with traditional trusts and equity courses, from a short introduction through different types of trust, coverage of the appointment, powers and duties of trustees to breach of trust and remedies

NEW TO THIS EDITION

- Guest v Guest where the Supreme Court considered that, as regards satisfying proprietary estoppel, the starting point is expectation fulfilment
- Noshepetsj Ltd (In Liquidation) v Watersheds Capital Partners Ltd and Khan v Mahmood - in both cases the High Court considered the modern form of the 'every effort' doctrine and the role of unconscionability
- Hudson v Hathway where the Court of Appeal established that detriment is necessary before a common intention can be found to rebut the presumption of a joint tenancy
- Butler-Sloss v Charity Commission where the High Court charted the ability for charities to avoid making non-ethical investments
- Merton LBC v Nuffield Health where the Supreme Court addressed the requirement of public benefit in a dispute concerning mandatory rate relief for charities

THE FUNDAMENTALS SERIES

Introducing your students to the fundamental principles of a subject by way of clear text combined with charts, grids and diagrams

- Sets out a clear framework and explains the intricacies of an area of law as clearly as possible without sacrificing the detail that is required for a proper understanding
- Includes full coverage of all topics likely to be studied at undergraduate level, on Diploma in Law (CPE) programmes, and ILEX level 6
- Makes use of headings and sub-headings to lead students through the work with ease
- Assumes no prior knowledge of the subject – allowing the books to be used for those new to the subject and for distance learning courses
- Facilitates learning with clear language and bite-size chunks of text
