SUPPORT FOR LECTURERS

Our publishing programme is built around your teaching needs so it's important for us to get out and meet with you as often as possible. Each year, members of the Academic Team meet and speak to Academics so you can:

- View our range of new titles and editions
- Request your free inspection copies
- Provide us with feedback on how we can be of more help and where you feel there are gaps in your information and teaching resources
- Speak to us about any writing projects you have in mind

The Academic Team arrange individual appointments throughout the year. This enables us to discuss your needs on a one-to-one basis and work with you to find the most suitable textbooks for your students.

And our service doesn't stop at finding you the right course material. We can supply promotional material to your campus or local bookshop to support the adoption.

THE SWEET & MAXWELL ACADEMIC ALERTER

The Academic Alerter email service is designed to ensure you receive all the latest textbook publishing news from Sweet & Maxwell together with Academic News features and articles. Articles include key developments in law and the latest trends.

Find out more at sweetandmaxwell.co.uk/lecturers-students

SWEET & MAXWELL LAW PRIZE

The Sweet & Maxwell Law Prize enables higher education institutions to award their highest achieving law student/s with the gift of books published by Sweet & Maxwell to the value of £150 (or £100 for LPC/BPTC courses). The prize is open to all law schools in the UK, who decide what the prize will be awarded for and who the recipient will be.

WHY PUBLISH WITH SWEET & MAXWELL?

As a specialist legal publisher with a long-standing tradition of quality and scholarship, Sweet & Maxwell are committed to the publication of high quality texts that meet the needs of both lecturers and students. Our commitment to excellence offers authors a high level service through publishing professionalism, specialist market knowledge and understanding of the requirements of our authors.

AMONG THE BENEFITS OF WRITING FOR SWEET & MAXWELL ARE:

- Over 200 years of history and heritage in legal publishing: your work can benefit not just from this heritage but also from a brand that is synonymous with quality, excellence and authority
- Personal communication: a dedicated Publishing Editor will be your main point of contact throughout the whole publication process
- Editorial excellence: we accept only the highest standards in copy-editing, typesetting and production
- Marketing support: your title will be promoted by a dedicated academic marketing executive who can help with marketing-related queries
- International reach: as part of Thomson Reuters, Sweet & Maxwell has representation in over 100 countries providing us with the opportunity to maximise sales of appropriate titles internationally
- Sales support: a dedicated highly experienced academic trade sales team that concentrates purely on legal titles and their promotion into bookshops, online vendors and other agents

WHAT SHOULD YOU INCLUDE IN YOUR PROPOSAL?

This varies for each title but you should consider the following:

- Covering letter – Explain why the market needs your book. Include a brief competitor review that covers other titles in the area. Don't be put off if there are other titles, we will be looking to see what makes your title unique. Detail who you think the target market is and how large you think it is. Think about the time it will take you to write the title and give a realistic delivery date for the manuscript
- Synopsis – Describe the aim and scope of the title. Summarise the approach you will take and the content to be covered. Include a draft table of contents and if you are intending to have contributing authors, any suggestions you may have for them. Indicate how in-depth you intend the title to be. This section is the heart of your proposal so ensure that you have shown why your title has the potential to be successful
- Sample Chapters – A draft chapter included with a proposal would be an advantage as this will give us a clear indication of writing style and content level. The chapter does not need to be a finished version, but should cover the essence of your style and approach and include any features that you intend to use within the book
- Curriculum vitae – Provide details on your professional experience, as well as any previous publishing experience. Don't worry if you haven't had any previous publishing experience, this information will highlight that we need to give you more support during the process
- Additional material – Include any other supporting material that you think would be useful in demonstrating the market for your title

WHO TO CONTACT WITH YOUR PUBLISHING PROPOSAL

The Academic team at Sweet & Maxwell would be delighted to hear from you should you be interested in writing a new textbook or skills title.

Nicola Thurlow is the Senior Publisher responsible for our textbook publishing programme. All textbook proposals should be sent to Nicola in the first instance, should you have any concerns or queries regarding your proposal Nicola will be happy to help you.

Amanda Strange is our Senior Publisher and alongside her textbook commissioning has responsibility for our skills titles. Should you have a proposal or query in this area please do contact Amanda directly.

"A gem of a book"

Independent Schools
Careers Bulletin

"William Clarke has written a number of guides to the work of the City of London. None is better than this."

The Banker

HOW THE CITY OF LONDON WORKS – AN INTRODUCTION TO ITS FINANCIAL MARKETS

William M Clarke – Former Financial Editor of The Times

- Acts as a straightforward introduction for anyone who comes into contact with the City's financial markets and institutions, either as part of their studies, professional training or as a general reader
- Uses diagrams, maps and illustrations to explain what goes on in the financial and other markets of the City of London, elucidating how they work and are regulated. Places a stronger emphasis on the activities of hedge funds and private equity firms than in previous editions – reflecting the fact that they dominate the headlines on a daily basis
- Continues to examine how US incursions have changed the ownership of the main operators in the City, especially the merchant banks
- Examines how the City has enhanced its position in the world after the introduction of the Euro and looks at the clear lead that London has now established over New York
- Includes a glossary of technical terms in current use in the City
- This is a vital purchase for all students and anyone who works in the City of London, foreign banks or institutions

CONTENTS INCLUDE

What the City does • Banking • Insurance • The Stock Exchange • The Capital Market • The Gilt-edged Market • The Money Market • Foreign Exchange • The Euro and the City • Euro-currencies • The Gold Market • Commodity Markets • Derivatives, Futures, Options... • Shipping • What the City is • How the City is controlled • Where to learn more about the City • Glossary

LAW AND PRACTICE OF INTERNATIONAL FINANCE

Philip Wood (QC) – Solicitor of the Supreme Court; Special Global Counsel, Allen & Overy LLP; Visiting Professor at Oxford University, Yorke Distinguished Visiting Fellow at Cambridge University, Visiting Fellow at the London School of Economics and Political Science, and Queen Mary, University of London

- Presents the only all-encompassing guide to the law relating to international finance, based on the author's university courses
- Covers the three principal approaches – the policies of the law, the legal rules and also the practical transactions – so that students are presented with doctrine, data and deals, each of which throws light on the other
- Gives students a panoramic view of international finance which not only has practitioner-based deals but also elucidates the law on a global basis without being tied to any single jurisdiction
- Includes reference to nearly all of the world's 320 jurisdictions – the first time the topic has been dealt with on such a worldwide comparative basis
- Written by an acknowledged leading expert who offers a unique perspective based on practical experiences and academic insights

CRIMINAL LAW: TEXT AND MATERIALS

Professor Sally Kyd – Professor of Law, University of Leicester; Dr Tracey Elliott – Lecturer in Law, University of Leicester; and Professor Mark Austin Walters – Professor of Criminal Law and Criminology, University of Sussex

- Provides quality and authoritative analysis with a clear organisation of ideas and cases
- Examines the main principles and rules of criminal law and explores the theoretical bases upon which they are founded in an easily digestible text
- Combines the best features of a standard "textbook" with those of a "cases and materials" book to provide guidance and direction on the law, whilst presenting a substantial amount of key primary material selected from a diverse range of sources
- Its clarity and comprehensive coverage make it essential reading for all undergraduate law students and an indispensable resource for those on modular or GDL courses
- Draws on non-legal contextual material to provide a social context to the law rather than a mere analysis of the rules

NEW TO THIS EDITION

- Update to the law of dishonesty in theft and fraud in Ivey v Genting Casinos (UK) Ltd and R v Barton and Booth
- New section on criminal damage to take account of the SQE curriculum
- New section on developments to the law on coercive and controlling behaviour

THE FUNDAMENTALS SERIES

Introducing your students to the fundamental principles of a subject by way of clear text combined with charts, grids and diagrams

- Sets out a clear framework and explains the intricacies of an area of law as clearly as possible without sacrificing the detail that is required for a proper understanding
- Includes full coverage of all topics likely to be studied at undergraduate level, on Diploma in Law (CPE) programmes, and ILEX level 6
- Makes use of headings and sub-headings to lead students through the work with ease
- Assumes no prior knowledge of the subject – allowing the books to be used for those new to the subject and for distance learning courses
- Facilitates learning with clear language and bite-size chunks of text
