Criminal Liability

2nd Edition

Authors: Finbarr McAuley and J. Paul McCutcheon

This work provides a comprehensive treatment of the concept of criminal liability. Topics covered include the origins and development, elements and forms of criminal liability; the incidents of criminal fault; the architecture of criminal offences; the excuses and justifications offered as defences to a criminal charge; and the role of codification. Distinctive features include a strongly historical approach, attention to the underlying grammar of criminal liability, extensive use of comparative materials, both common law and civilian, and recourse to philosophical and psychological literature in the elucidation of key concepts.

The second edition brings the work fully up to date, incorporating the changes in legislation and case law that have accumulated in the more than 20 years since the first edition. The new edition also includes an assessment of the significance of Draft Criminal Code and Commentary, published in 2010, for the analysis of criminal liability and the more than 50 offences incorporated in it, as well as the extensive work of the Law Reform Commission on the substantive criminal law over the last two decades.

About the Authors

Finbarr McAuley is professor emeritus of law at University College Dublin. He was a member of the Law Reform Commission from 2000-2012 and chairman of the Criminal Law Codification Advisory Committee that produced Draft Criminal Code and Commentary in 2010. ## Administrative Law

2nd Edition

Matthew Holmes

This second edition of the Administrative Law Nutshell provides busy students and practitioners with a comprehensive overview of administrative law in Ireland. It concisely explains the core principles and concepts of this dynamic and important part of Irish law. Administrative law is a core requirement to enter the King's Inns. In particular, this text provides a helpful and detailed revision tool for the complex area of judicial review, which currently accounts for about a third of the cases in the High Court.

Features:

- Explains basic principles and highlights key cases and statutes.
- A simple introduction to administrative law for students that covers complex areas of law clearly and concisely, providing understanding of an important area of law in the run up to exams.
- A detailed guide to the procedures expected to be followed by administrators, and what can be considered to be unfair procedure.
- An easy-to-understand guide to judicial review, including judicial review procedure, judicial review remedies, who can take a judicial review and who and what can be subject to a judicial review.

New to this edition:

- Updates the first edition to take account of new statutory changes and Supreme Court case law.
- Deals with growth areas of judicial review such as planning law and asylum law.
- Brand new chapter on appeals.

Round Hall Nutshells is a series of books presenting the essentials of the law in clear, straightforward language. Designed with the busy student in mind, the Nutshell is perfect for exam preparation, with brief, clear explanations of key exam topics throughout.

Commercial Law

3rd Edition

Fidelma White

This new 3rd edition includes developments in legislation and case law since the last edition, from Ireland, the EU and other important common law jurisdictions, not least the UK, as well as various proposals for reform which would impact on a wide variety of aspects of commercial law. In particular, such developments include:

- In Part 1 Introduction: developments in the e-commerce framework (e.g. the eIDAS Regulation) and Irish contract law, including in relation to the implication of terms in commercial contracts and unfair terms in consumer contracts.
- In Part 2 Agency: recent developments in Irish, UK and EU case law, for example, in relation to apparent authority and the self-employed under the Commercial Agents Directive (Directive 86/653).
- In Part 3 Sale of Goods, etc.: important developments include Irish Supreme Court and Court of Appeal decisions on sale of goods, including on the meaning of merchantable quality and the use of retention of title clauses, as well as the new Directives on digital content and services (Directive 2019/770) and consumer sales (Directive 2019/771) to be transposed by 1 January 2022.
- In Part 4 on Finance: see in particular the EU (Payment Services) Regulations 2018 and the growing body of case law on undue influence and guarantees.
- Part 5 on Insurance has been updated to take account of the Consumer Insurance Contracts Act 2019 and the EU (Insurance Distribution) Regulations 2018.
- In Part 6 on International Trade: developments include Incoterms 2020 and the move towards the further digitalisation of trade documents.
- In Part 7 on IP: there have been significant developments including new copyright legislation (Copyright and Other Intellectual Property Law Provisions Act 2019); the new unitary EU patent regime (EU Regulations 1257/2012 and 1260/2012) and the TM reform package (Trademarks Directive 2015/2436 and Trademark Regulation 2015/2424), as well as significant developments in case law.
- In Part 8 on Dispute Resolution: the growing body of case law on the Arbitration Act 2010, as well as the Mediation Regulations 2011, the Mediation Act 2017; and the ongoing review of civil procedures rules.

About the Author

Fidelma White is a Senior Lecturer in Law at University College Cork. She was a member of the Sales Law Review Group (2008–2011) established to advise the Minister on reform of the law of sale of goods and related transactions; the Consumer Law Advisory Group to advise on the formulation of new consumer legislation (2012–2015) and the Attorney General's Working Group on the Consumer Rights Bill 2021, as well as numerous EU research projects. She has researched and written on various aspects of Irish, English and EU commercial and consumer law.

Contract Law in Ireland

9th Edition

Robert Clark

In the six years since the last edition, contract law has been the subject of a large number of legislative changes. The Civil Law and Criminal Law (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 2020 enacted a number of legislative changes to the rules of evidence and brought about the introduction of new mechanisms to admit commercial documents in evidence, enhancing the rather unsatisfactory and uncertain laws on bankers' books evidence. Similarly, the Consumer Insurance Contracts Act 2019 brings about legislative reform of consumer insurance contract law, rebalancing the rules on warranties and the duty of disclosure, as well as a number of rules of pleading that were too favourable to the insurer. In addition, the 2019 Act introduces a range of provisions that allow claimants to step into the shoes of an insolvent or uncontactable insured so as to be able to make a claim on the policy.

Further, two important Bills are at a very advanced stage. The Assisted Decision-Making (Capacity) (Amendment) Bill 2022 will allow the 2015 Act to become fully effective. The protection of vulnerable persons is in need of extensive reform in Ireland and Chapter 16 takes account of these and other developments, including case law from both Irish jurisdictions. The Consumer Rights Bill 2022 is a landmark Bill that will radically change the consumer protection landscape, particularly on implied terms. The Bill is cross-referred to throughout the new text.

There has been an explosion in the volume of relevant Irish case law, due in the Republic, in the main, to the successful establishment of the Court of Appeal. There has been a significant increase in complex commercial litigation in Northern Ireland, attested to, for example, by the Peninsula v Dunnes litigation that went all the way to the UK Supreme Court. This Northern Irish case law is fully covered. Case law from other common law jurisdictions can also be found in this book.

Features:

- A narrative style to take readers through the main developments in their legal and doctrinal context.
- A strong comparative law dimension featuring the main UK / England and Wales points of reference.
- Use and citation of EU Directives and case law, when relevant.

About the Author

Robert Clark, Professor Emeritus within UCD Sutherland School of Law, is a barrister and consultant to Arthur Cox, Dublin and London. He was the Chairperson of the Sales Law Review Group (2008–2011) and Principal Researcher on the Law Reform Commission Discussion Paper on Insurance Contract Law (2011).

Criminal Liability

2nd Edition

Finbarr McAuley and J. Paul McCutcheon

This work provides a comprehensive treatment of the concept of criminal liability. Topics covered include the origins and development, elements and forms of criminal liability; the incidents of criminal fault; the architecture of criminal offences; the excuses and justifications offered as defences to a criminal charge; and the role of codification. Distinctive features include a strongly historical approach, attention to the underlying grammar of criminal liability, extensive use of comparative materials, both common law and civilian, and recourse to philosophical and psychological literature in the elucidation of key concepts.

The second edition brings the work fully up to date, incorporating the changes in legislation and case law that have accumulated in the more than 20 years since the first edition. The new edition also includes an assessment of the significance of Draft Criminal Code and Commentary, published in 2010, for the analysis of criminal liability and the more than 50 offences incorporated in it, as well as the extensive work of the Law Reform Commission on the substantive criminal law over the last two decades.

About the Authors

Finbarr McAuley is professor emeritus of law at University College Dublin. He was a member of the Law Reform Commission from 2000-2012 and chairman of the Criminal Law Codification Advisory Committee that produced Draft Criminal Code and Commentary in 2010. His research interests include criminal law in all its aspects and medieval canon law. He is a former editor of the Irish Jurist and has been visiting professor at the Universities of British Columbia, Cape Town, Catania, Hannover, Natal, Parma, Rome La Sapienza and Victoria.

Paul McCutcheon is professor of law at the University of Limerick. He was a member of the Expert Group on Criminal Law Codification from 2002-2004. He was Head of the School of Law from 2002-2007 and Academic Vice President of the University of Limerick from 2007-2017. # Damages

2nd Edition

Tadhg Dorgan & Peter McKenna

The second edition of Damages is designed as a reference work for practitioners who deal with day-to-day litigation and advisory work. It is written to assist lawyers on discrete issues on quantum and recent practice with the calculation of damages, together with academic commentary.

The law of damages is a fast-paced and constantly changing area that straddles all aspects of the law. The first edition of this title was the first Irish publication on the issue of damages generally, and the new edition consolidates its success with fully updated chapters taking account of the present law.

The book aims to provide practitioners with a guide to approaching and quantifying the issue of quantum. As well as providing commentary on general principles of approaching quantum such as contributory negligence, the book also deals with substantive areas. Such areas range from personal injuries and contract, to more discrete areas of statutory damages and misfeasance.

The new edition includes commentary on possible litigation arising out of the Covid-19 pandemic; a consideration of federal actions in the United States against laboratories arising from the misreading of cervical smear tests; together with helpful appendices on samples of damages awarded in Ireland and the recently approved judicial guidelines for the award of personal injury general damages.

About the Authors

Tadhg Dorgan BCL (NUI) is a barrister-at-law of King's Inns Dublin and of the Inns of Court of Northern Ireland, Middle Temple.

Peter McKenna BA (Dub) M. Phil (Cantab) is a barrister-at-law.

Judicial Review of Criminal Proceedings

2nd Edition

Derek Dunne

The second edition of Judicial Review of Criminal Proceedings contains a full and up-to-date exposition and analysis of judicial review as it applies at all stages of criminal proceedings. It incorporates a thorough and detailed analysis of the new Order 84 of the Rules of the Superior Courts that came into effect shortly after the publication of the first edition in 2011, as well as all important case law of the superior courts and all legislative developments in the time since.

The second edition also contains an entirely new exposition and analysis of judicial review as it arises or applies following conviction and sentence, including: analysis of the relationship between judicial review and Article 40.4.2 of Bunreacht na hÉireann 1937; judicial review of prison conditions; and judicial review of decisions of the executive concerning temporary release, remission, enhanced remission, etc.

Judicial review has assumed increased importance in areas such as prison conditions; decisions of the executive concerning applications for temporary release, remission and enhanced remission; and warrants.

New to this edition

- Amended Order 84 of the Rules of the Superior Courts.
- Entirely new section on language rights in criminal proceedings and judicial review.
- New section on judicial review of warrants (including bench warrants, arrest warrants, search warrants and committal warrants).
- New section on blameworthy prosecutorial delay in criminal proceedings involving children and the Children Act 2001.
- New section on judicial review of decisions of the executive concerning temporary release, remission and enhanced remission.
- All chapters have been substantially revised and rewritten to incorporate all important recent legislative and judicial developments.

About the Author

The Trade Union and Industrial Relations Acts

6th Edition

Anthony Kerr

Since the publication of the fifth edition in 2015, there have been a number of significant developments in this area, both legislative and judicial. These include the enactment of the Industrial Relations (Amendment) Act 2019, giving members of An Garda Síochána access to the Workplace Relations Commission and the Labour Court, and the Workplace Relations (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 2021, addressing the issues raised by the Supreme Court decision in Zalewski v An Adjudication Officer (2021).

This new edition brings you up to date by examining the impact of these developments which, in addition to the 2019 and 2021 Acts, include:

- The Supreme Court decision in NECI (2021) upholding the constitutionality of the Sectoral Employment Order provisions in the Industrial Relations (Amendment) Act 2015.
- The Court of Appeal decision in Mullally (2016) confirming that industrial relations decisions of the Labour Court are not amenable to judicial review.
- The Trade Union (Forms) Regulations 2018 and Trade Union (Fees) Regulations 2018.
- The establishment of Joint Labour Committees in the English Language Schools and Early Years Care sectors and the amalgamation of the two regional catering Joint Labour Committees.
- The recommendations of the Labour Court pursuant to the Industrial Relations (Amendment) Act 2001 in Freshways Food, Enercon Windfarm, Conduit Enterprises, Zimmer Orthopaedics and Scruttons.
- New Labour Court Rules.

Each Act and statutory instrument is annotated with reference to relevant case law, books, articles and parliamentary debates. All textual amendments, adaptations and repeals are clearly shown as the legislation is thoroughly cross-referenced.

About the Author
